

EDU Group Launches Summer Exchange Programme 2026, Supporting Students' Professional Development and Business Etiquette Learning

Promoting Practical Learning Through Professional Training and Student Engagement

EDU Group recently launched its Summer Exchange Programme 2026, welcoming participating students to take part in learning and development activities designed to support their professional growth.

As part of the programme, students joined training sessions covering topics such as corporate bridges, professional relationship building, and business etiquette. The sessions provided participants with opportunities to better understand workplace communication, professional interaction, and the importance of presenting themselves appropriately in business and social settings.

The programme also encouraged students to take initiative, engage actively with mentors and peers, and develop confidence through structured learning experiences. Through these activities, participants were able to build a stronger awareness of professional conduct and interpersonal communication in real-world contexts.

EDU Group values opportunities to support young people through practical education and experience-based learning. The launch of the Summer Exchange Programme 2026 reflected the Group's continued commitment to youth development, professional training, and meaningful educational engagement.

Looking ahead, EDU Group will continue to provide learning opportunities that help students broaden their perspectives, strengthen their communication skills, and prepare for future academic and career development.
